Galenica takes a stake in the Well digital health platform

Galenica is continuing the development of integrated and networked health care in Switzerland by joining the Well digital health platform. Thanks to Well, patients can enjoy easy digital access to a growing network of service providers. As a shareholder, Galenica will play a leading role in the further expansion of Well together with its four founding partners: CSS, Visana, Medi24 and the Zur Rose Group. The collaboration among these companies aims to expand links to service providers in the health care industry and unite Well's digital services with Galenica's digital and in-patient offerings.

To advance integrated health care in Switzerland, Well is developing an open digital health platform. This is a cooperative effort linking health insurers, service providers and platform users. It is already possible for users to schedule appointments – for example for the flu vaccination – with Amavita, Coop Vitality or Sun Store pharmacies, consult physicians online, schedule medical appointments or submit health documents. Offerings available on the Well app continue to expand.

The options provided by Well complement the services offered digitally and on an in-patient basis throughout Switzerland by the Galena Group. Well users will now enjoy even easier access to Galenica's existing offerings, including the capacity to schedule vaccinations or other pharmacy-based health services such as cardiac or allergy testing. In parallel, Well is also providing support to health care professionals, who can bring improved functionality and expanded data to their existing systems, booking appointments through Well and consulting the health data their patients make available via the app. Into this ecosystem, Galenica is contributing not only the largest pharmaceutical network in Switzerland but also its comprehensive experience with software solutions for health care and its digital offerings.

It was agreed that the share purchase price will not be made public.

Marc Werner, CEO Galenica Group CEO, stated, "We are pleased to be collaborating with Well and the platform's other strong partners. This kind of networking involving patients, service providers and insurers is lighting the path to digital health care and beyond to innovative and easily accessible services."

About Galenica

Galenica is Switzerland's leading, completely integrated healthcare service provider. With over 500 own, joint venture and independent partner pharmacies, Galenica operates the largest network of pharmacies in Switzerland. In addition, Galenica further develops and offers well-known own brands and products, exclusive brands and products from business partners as well as a variety of on-site health services and tests for customers. Galenica is also the leading provider of pre-wholesale and wholesale distribution services as well as database services in the Swiss healthcare market. Galenica is listed on the Swiss Stock Exchange (SIX Swiss Exchange, GALE, security number 36,067,446). Additional information concerning Galenica can be found at www.galenica.com.

About Well

The Well health platform represents the digitisation and streamlining of Swiss health care. As a mobile app, it provides access to digital, customised and quality-tested health care offerings, all this on a single platform. Through its links to physicians and pharmacists, patients can quickly find answers to their health questions, contact health care providers and autonomously take charge of their own well-being. The health insurers CSS and Visana, the telemedicine and digital health care provider Medi24 and the online pharmaceutical and technology provider Zur Rose Group are the founders of the digital Swiss health care platform. Together with their newest partner, Galenica, they operate their joint venture partnership. Well presents itself as a neutral platform open to all health care professionals, especially health insurers and service providers. More information regarding Well is available at www.well.ch
